Introducing Core's Smart Services, flexible support and app development designed for the modern workplace

Core's Smart Services are rolling engagements based on a consumption-based pricing model, designed to support, develop, operate, and enhance, your Microsoft business environment. This fresh, demand-based consumption model allows businesses to pay for what they consume, unlike other models that use licensing or user volumes to calculate support costs. We believe that to support modern workplace growth and innovation, support models need to follow suit.

Based on our Microsoft pedigree, our Smart Services are perfectly aligned to support and develop Microsoft platforms such as SharePoint, Viva and Teams, plus the wider M365 environment. The services deliver focused support skills and app development in flexible, easy-to-manage packages.

Providing access to our specialist consultants on an ongoing basis, as and when customers need support and development capability, reduces the need for businesses to cover a broad spectrum of hard-to-find skills that may only be required for a percentage of the working week.

Smart Service outcomes:

Core's Smart Services provide a comprehensive, end-to-end implementation, development, and support of your Microsoft platforms and applications.

Our teams will work collaboratively to deliver and enhance the way Microsoft tools fit your business processes, underpinning your internal teams with specialist support and development.
